TechnoWise Group Promotes Jonathan Curreri to Chief Financial Officer

Curreri Brings Over Two Decades of Capital Markets and Finance Experience to his new Position

(Boca Raton, FL.) The TechnoWise Group announced the appointment of Jonathan Curreri as Chief Financial Officer at the company.

Prior to his appointment to Chief Financial Officer, Curreri initially served as a consultant to the company, and was later appointed Executive Vice President of International for The TechnoWise Group.

Over the past two years, Curreri has established customer product financing relationships with the World Bank and other global development institutions and preparing the company for a future capital raise.

“TechnoWise is pleased to promote Jonathan Curreri as our Chief Financial Officer. Jonathan brings a wealth of experience to this key position in our organization,” TechnoWise Chairman and CEO Rafael Zaga stated.

Before joining TechnoWise, Curreri founded Alta Advisers a financial consultancy group providing capital market services to leading European institutional asset managers. For over 20 years, Curreri has helped growth companies raise equity financing in private placements and launch their IPOs.

“I look forward to continuing my work with the TechnoWise team as we move further into our commercial phase. The company’s patented energy conservation solutions offer tremendous benefits for industrial and residential consumers. We have significant opportunities to drive growth and help reduce CO2 emissions by collaborating with multinational development banks,” Curreri stated.

Curreri brings a diverse range of global experience in strategic planning, sales and finance. He began his capital markets career working in institutional equity sales out of New York and California. He later moved to London to open and manage an international representative office for the U.S. investment bank BB&T Capital Markets (a Fortune 500 Co. with $185 B in assets).

For the past 10 years Curreri has been located in Barcelona, Spain where he established European institutional sales for investment banks such as Dexia and Wedbush Morgan Securities. Other activities prior to TechnoWise include structuring an absolute return UCITS fund with Knight Capital and consulting on hedge funds in the UAE. Curreri holds a BA in Economics and International Affairs from the University of Colorado, Boulder
